

A large container ship is docked at a port, with several cranes visible in the background. The ship is dark grey with a pinkish-red hull. It is loaded with many colorful shipping containers. The cranes are white and have the name 'PORT OF LONDON' on them. The water is blue and the sky is clear.

MBA IN SHIPPING

International shipping has always been critical to the development of world trade. The inter-relationships between falling transportation costs, economic growth and globalisation in the twentieth century have made Shipping one of the most profitable and exciting occupations. Our MBA in Shipping considers trading patterns and Shipping organisation in their legal, financial and managerial contexts.

The course delivers a comprehensive and integrated overview of the core subjects essential to a thorough understanding of Business Administration and Shipping Management. It will develop your generic business skills whatever your background or career stage and it will enhance your critical analytical skills.

Further, the interdisciplinary nature of the programme will prepare you to be a future professional who can function effectively in the complex business environment of the global marketplace. The diversity of supporting activities within the highly dynamic trade and maritime industry and its various sectors, consisting of many hundreds of large, medium and small firms, makes this choice possible.
